

ABSTRACT

A hydrogen storage material includes a nano size material that can be formed in a multi-layered core/shell structure and/or in a nanotubular (or platelet) form.